Greg Breckler has worked in the wastewater treatment field for over 18 years. His reputation relies on the equipment he uses. That's why when it was time to replace the 42-year-old Gorman-Rupp pumps in one of his hardest-working lift stations, he stuck with Gorman-Rupp Super T Series® self-priming, solids-handling pumps. And he expects them to be around long after he retires.

Reflections from Ringle

The County Engineers Association of Ohio (CEAO) is pleased to present the 2020 edition of our roster. It is a comprehensive and invaluable resource of information and contacts for the County Engineers and their staffs.

Thank you to our CEAO staff, and our county engineers and their staffs, for all their work in making positive impacts on our communities around Ohio. Together we are making this organization professional and relevant to the needs of our members and the general public. We will continue to support and promote the engineering and surveying duties and responsibilities of our members and the good works of the CEAO.

We also want to thank our participating members who support our organization and are engaged in working with the CEAO to provide services and resources for our engineers.

The CEAO staff appreciates the opportunity to serve and support Ohio's County Engineers with their Traditions of Excellence.

Sincerely,

County Engineers

(Eff. date is when first held current office of County Engineer)

The County Engineers Association of Ohio (CEAO) began in 1879 as the Association of County Surveyors of Ohio. Since then, it has evolved into the association as we know it today, representing all Ohio's County Engineers. CEAO has worked to unify its members in their goal to provide the highest quality transportation, drainage, surveying, and land record keeping services. From the safe and efficient movement of people, goods, and services to continuing land development needs, we are striving to construct solutions for many of the challenges to Ohio's local infrastructure.

The office of the County Surveyor was established by the first General Assembly following admission of Ohio to the Union in 1803. In 1831, the legislature voted to make the office elective because of the increased responsibilities it entailed. The law stated that a County Surveyor would serve a term of three years, "if he so long behaved well and until his successor be elected and qualified." Legislation in 1915 established a salary and the responsibility of also being Resident Engineer for the State Highway Department. In 1928, the term of office was lengthened from three years to four. Then, on August 30, 1935 the title was changed to "County Engineer", establishing the qualifications that each officeholder would be a licensed professional engineer and professional surveyor.
